

The Australian Water Association's SA Branch YWP's invite you to attend

Young Water Professionals Annual Forum

Thursday 7th June 2012

Political Drivers in the Water Industry

The SA Branch Young Water Professionals 2012 Forum will examine the current state of the water industry and political drivers guiding the sector's future. What are the next big projects on the horizon? How will policies regarding climate change, carbon accounting and water resource management affect the water industry in the future? How can the urban water sector adjust and play its part in a more sustainable total water cycle?

This full day forum will allow young water professionals to share knowledge and network with their industry peers while investigating these issues. Topics include:

- Water Reform and the National Water Initiative
- Managing water resources in a changing climate
- Adapting to future water supply challenges

Featuring an opening address by

Hon Paul Caica, Minister for Water and the River Murray
